2 Nazi Paris 'Butcher' Hangs Self

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, FRIDAY, FEB. 6, 1943

By KINGSBURY SMITH
European General Manager,
International News Service

PARIS, Feb. 6 (INS)—German Gen. Otto von Stuepnagel, the notorious "Butcher of Paris," hanged himself today in the Cherche Midi military prison.

Von Stuepnagel, former occupation commander in Paris, was held for wartime atrocities against the French. He exercised ruthless brutality in suppressing the French resistance movement.

Von Stuepnagel was the second former German commander to commit suicide in as many days. A former associate, Col. Gen. Johannes von Blaskowitz, jumped to his death from a prison catwalk yesterday in the Nurnberg Palace of Justice.

Von Stuepnagel fashioned a noose out of strips of cloth which he tore from the mattress cover of his prison cot.

NICKNAMED BY FRENCH

Von Stuepnagel was brought back from Germany as a prisoner to the city he formerly bossed several months ago.

He was charged mainly with signing the arrest warrants for members of the French Resistance, and subsequently decrees for their execution.

The French hated Von Stuepnagel and nicknamed him "The Butcher."

In Aug. 1941, following the slaying of a German officer, he ordered 22 hostages shot. Their names were never revealed.

In October of the same year, after attacks on German troops quartered in Bordeaux and Nantes, he issued orders that 100 hostages be shot.

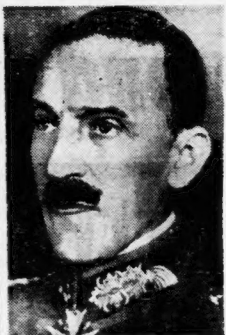

CUTS EXECUTION DEMANDS

However, after protests by the Vatican and by neutral countries, he said that "I will be satisfied with 50." These were then put to death at Chateaubriand.

Also notoriously anti-Semitic, Von Stuepnagel undoubtedly would have been condemned to death at the conclusion of trial, slated for the first military tribunal in Paris.

Grains Slump Again As Stocks Hold Even

By Associated Press

Commodity prices showed signs of regaining some balance today after further sharp drops. The stock market held about even after two days of heavy losses.

Corn again led the break in the grain exchanges, plummeting the daily permissible limit of 8 cents a bushel.

All deliveries of wheat closed off the 10-cent limit for that grain, while oats performed better than either of the others.

Some market analysts saw the uncertain fluctuations of commodities today as holding out hopes of a moderate adjustment of prices instead of the collapse that could lead to distress.

Cotton futures at New York in the early afternoon were slightly above Thursday's close. There were other strong points in wholesale commodities—butter at New York and Baltimore, for example.

But vegetable oils beat a further retreat, and butter was weak at Chicago.

Stock market observers said once the confusion attending the debacle in grains wears off, traders who have been concerned over what they regarded as artificial values in commodities expect a revived demand for stocks.

The commodity markets were closely watched by those seeking to determine if the upward spiral in the cost of living might be at an end.

Whether the housewife eventually would pay less for a loaf of bread or a cotton dress depended on one prime factor: whether the break in prices is a flash in the pan or a decisive turn in the inflation road.

De Valera Loses Majority in Dail

DUBLIN, Feb. 6 (AP)—Thomas L. Mullins, secretary of the Fianna Fail (government party), said today Prime Minister Eamon De Valera lost his Dail (Parliament majority by a slim margin in Wednesday's general election. But Mullins said the Prime Minister would be able to form a new government with the support of labor and independent.

Complete returns from three-quarters of Eire's 40 constituencies showed De Valera's Fianna Fail could not hope to obtain the 74 seats needed for a clear majority in the 147-member Dail.

However, William Burke, general secretary of the Fine Gael party, De Valera's chief opposition, conceded the prime minister had a fairly good chance of extending his unbroken 16 years of rule with the support of the minority groups.

The latest official returns gave the Fianna Fail 55 of the 117 seats thus far determined.

The Fianna Fail led the old Dail, dissolved last fall, with 77 of the 142 seats.

During the campaign De Valera said he wanted no part of a coalition government.

"Mr. De Valera still has not thought of a coalition," Mullins said, "he will pursue his long standing independent Fianna Fail policy and I am confident the Independent National Labor members will voluntarily support him in the interests of a strong, stable government."

Sean MacBride's year-old Clann Na Poblachta (Republican party) slipped into fourth place on the basis of new returns. This party forced the general election by taking two bye-elections last fall. MacBride had predicted it would win 40 seats. Today it was sure of eight.

Gen. Richard Mulcahy's Fine Gael (United Ireland party), main opposition, was second with 25 seats. The normally small labor party stood third with 12.

The division of seats by the latest government returns, with the parties' pre-election strength in parentheses:

Fianna Fail	55 (77)
Fine Gael	25 (28)
Labor	12 (8)
Clann Na Poblachta	8 (21)
Farmer	7 (11)
Independents	7 (8)
National Labor	3 (4)

Slays His Mother 'For No Reason'

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 6 (AP)—A few hours after the battered body of Mrs. Cora Lee Siefker, 55, a seamstress, had been found in her home here, Cincinnati police said her 24-year-old son, Lloyd, telephoned them he had killed his mother with a hammer and wanted to be arrested.

Police said the young man, grinning broadly, told of beating his mother to death, for no reason, as she lay in her bed early Wednesday.

He told of having received a medical discharge from the Army and of having received treatment in a veterans' hospital for mental patients. He had been playing a guitar in a radio band.

THOS. DOWD, FREDERICK P. BROUGHTON, FRED J. HODGES
Exchange Club of Boston Officers Sign UMT Petitions

Sons of Revolution Back UMT Program

The Massachusetts branch of the Sons of the American Revolution strongly advocates Universal Military Training for the youth of the nation.

That statement was made on behalf of the famous organization by its state president, Walker L. Chamberlin, Lexington.

Said Chamberlin: "UMT is vital to the United States and the rest of the world, especially in this atomic age. It is my belief that UMT would act to prevent war and to insure peace and security, promote the physical fitness of our youth and result in saving our country's wealth, both human and financial."

Though personally not too pessimistic about present world conditions, Chamberlin said he believed the U. S. should be prepared for whatever crisis might come so that the nation would be in a position to defend itself ably.

MUST BE PREPARED

"For such reasons," he concluded, "the Sons of the American Revolution urgently request that the UMT bill be brought to a vote as soon as possible and demand a public statement by our Congressmen regarding their intentions on this bill."

The UMT bill is now in the House rules committee in Washington, which has given no indication of when the measure would be reported out for a vote on the floor of the House.

MESSAGES FOUR IN

Telegrams and letters to Rep. Leo E. Allen, chairman of the rules committee, and Rep. Christian Herter, committee member, have been pouring into their Washington offices from every Bay State community. Others have gone to Sen. Chan Gurney, chairman of the Senate armed services committee, and House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., as well as every other U.S. representative and senator from Massachusetts.

Latest telegrams urging immediate favorable action on the UMT bill were sent by members of the newly formed Exchange Club of Boston, an organization of business leaders.

The members voted support of UMT and signed a petition demanding passage of the bill. The petition was forwarded to the club's national headquarters in Toledo, O., where it will be placed with others from all over the country and sent on to Washington.

Tooting Tugs Tie Up Traffic Miles Around Drawbridges

By STANLEY CHIPMAN

Not so long ago, a self-important little tug towing a scow laden with refuse seaward bound, chugged up to the Summer st. bridge and tooted its whistle four times. That was tug language for an emergency opening of the bridge. The bridge was opened.

And so, with a pert swish of its saucy stern, the little tug chugged along, imperiously tooting an-

Hub Traffic

This is the fifth article of a series dealing with a stranger of progress—traffic congestion—which has retarded Boston, irritated its citizens and grown worse decade after decade. The Boston Common underground garage, authorized 20 months ago, is tied up in litigation. The Summer Tunnel, opened in 1934, was the last major effort at remedy. From that year back to the construction of the Elevated, half a century ago, there was nothing but stopgap treatment for the progress-stranger. Now there are signs a major operation is in the offing, with city and state finally taking up the challenge.

other emergency signal at the Congress st. bridge, and again at the Northern ave. bridge.

Just why a tug towing a load of ashes should throw its weight around like a fast freight carrying insured perishables and get away with it as an "emergency" need, particularly at a peak traffic hour—is a matter which may be given airing some day. In the meantime, it serves as a picturesque example of how Boston has tied itself in knots, traffic-wise, by decade after decade of doing little or nothing to extricate itself from vehicular snarls.

RIGHT-OF-WAY SNATCH
Theoretically, sea-going scows emphatically do not have right of way over the thousands of automobiles entering or leaving the city during rush hours by way of drawbridges. Yet the fact of the matter is that tug captains have obtained such right of way by resorting to emergency blasts at hours when they are prohibited from using the draws, and have made it pretty nearly commonplace.

Now, in the case of the scow full of ashes cited here, its majestic passage to sea precipitated a sorry situation on land. In the case of the Summer st. bridge alone, the draw was open for 22 minutes. As a result, automobiles

Militarism Hit By Abp. Cushing

DETROIT, Feb. 6—Archbishop Richard J. Cushing of Boston, in an address before the First Friday Club here, today recommended that the nation "consider Americanism as a substitute for both Communism and Militarism."

"Fascist and Communist countries have tried Militarism in Europe. Big armies don't prevent wars, they provoke them," he said.

Registering himself as opposed to proposals for universal military training, Archbishop Cushing said: "I know how many good and thoughtful citizens are in favor, in one degree or another, of universal, permanent and compulsory military training. . . . As one devoted to the interest of youth I earnestly recommend that you weigh this question far, far more carefully than you may hitherto have done."

The Archbishop said we sometimes are told we must choose between Communism and militarism. He insisted this was not true, and advocated "a third possibility—Americanism."

MRS. AGNES BRIDGES
Testifies Against Ex-Husband

Bridges' Ex-Wife Testifies Labor Chief a Commie

By FRED NIENDORFF

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 6—In an amazing story of her life with Harry Renton Bridges, internationally known union and maritime leader, Mrs. Agnes Bridges, his former wife, took the witness stand before the Canwell legislative committee investigating subversive activities and testified that:

1—Bridges was a member of the Communist party and as late as 1934 had a membership card in the name of Harry Dorgan. Dorgan, she said, was Bridges' mother's maiden name.

2—Bridges threatened her life if she ever exposed his membership in the party.

3—Bridges concealed the membership card, sometimes with her aid, under the bathroom linoleum in her former Harrison st. home in San Francisco and, at other times, in an apartment made with a butcher knife in the casing over the door.

Mrs. Bridges, who has been divorced from Bridges for two and a half years, stated under questioning by W. J. Houston that this was the first time she had told her story publicly.

She burst into tears several times when Houston questioned her concerning her only romance with Bridges and about the couple's daughter, Betty.

Committee chairman Rep. A. L. Canwell, announced that during her testimony the hearing room doors would be locked and no one permitted to leave or enter the room until Mrs. Bridges had been safely escorted from the armory when she concluded her testimony.

After taking the stand the nervous witness identified herself

Moves to Reinstate VA Workers Pledged

Three Massachusetts Congressmen wired State Com. Anthony D. Tieso of the Disabled American Veterans today that they will act immediately to secure a deficiency appro-

DEMAND $2 MILLION
The Congressmen who pledged their support of a move to obtain a large deficiency appropriation were Reps. Richard B. Wigglesworth, Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers and Harold D. Donohue.

Tieso said the DAV's national commander, John Golub, has demanded an overall $32,000,000 deficiency appropriation. The Massachusetts State Dept. of the DAV has been plumping for a $35,000,000 allotment for the nation in general with $6,000,000 earmarked for New England.

Other veteran organizations that attacked the economy slash were the State Departments of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. They also sent telegrams of protest to the Bay State delegation in Congress.

In the job-slashing directive received from Washington, not only was the New England branch office at 55 Tremont st. instructed to dismiss 59 of its personnel, and the regional office at 17 Court st. 37 of its employees, but further advised:

"Be prepared to make further reductions of force in the immediate future, and take care to screen employee commitments to avoid unnecessary separations."

The directive stated curtailment of funds was necessary to meet the VA 1948 budget, already cut by $600,000,000, and warned more economy moves were in the offing. All the employees dropped have been given 30-day notices.

"Be prepared to make further reductions of force in the immediate future, and take care to screen employee commitments to avoid unnecessary separations."

Knife Killing Jury Told Lynn Woman Threatened Captain

BRANDENBURG, Ky., Feb. 6 (AP)—The prosecution closed its case at noon today against Mrs. Sally Evelyn Di Tamasso, 28, charged with murder in connection with the fatal stabbing of Army Capt. John D. Quinn, both of Lynn, Mass., last June 25.

Sgt. Jim Garrett, with Capt. Quinn at the time of the tragedy, testified Mrs. Di Tamasso refused Quinn admittance into the house he had occupied with the defendant. The Army officer had been drinking some, she said.

The witness quoted Mrs. Di Tamasso as saying:
"I pity the first so-and-so who

Quinn went into the house, anyway, and the stabbing followed.

Four other witnesses, none of whom saw the butcher knife stabbing, testified for the Commonwealth. Their testimony related to events after Capt. Quinn was stabbed.

Mrs. Di Tamasso, a high school friend of the Army officer, was to testify later. The jury was sequestered yesterday.

Blind Vet Asks End Of Vivisection Bill

Strong opposition to the Nolen-Miles legislative bill, which proposes that lost or strayed dogs be surrendered to institutions for experimental purposes, was voiced today by a blind Fitchburg veteran who runs one of the biggest filling stations in his home city.

Ernest Spaulding, 40, of Myrtle ave., who lost his vision during the Battle of the Bulge, called upon veterans to fight the bill to make vivisection easier. His constant companion is a Labrador retriever, "Lady," a seeing eye dog.

"I hate to think what I would do without my dog," Spaulding said. "And I certainly am opposed to any law which would make it likely that my dog, if she should get lost, would wind up as a subject for experiments."

"I know the value of a dog perhaps better than anyone else. My dog has made it possible for me to make a living. Lady guides me to and from my gas station every day. She is my constant and loyal companion."

"It is not likely that Lady will become lost. But it is always possible for a dog to wander off. Just think of my plight if a specially trained dog like Lady should wind up in a dog pound and be turned over to someone who wanted live animals for experimental purposes."

"I hope everyone in the State who loves dogs will oppose this bill. And I hope that every veteran, who knows what a dog means to one like myself, will lead the fight."

"I think the bill is a great mistake, and I sincerely hope it is defeated."

Spaulding served for two years with the 30th Division in Europe. In the closing days of the Battle of the Bulge, one of the most dramatic episodes of the war, he was struck in the face by shrapnel and his eyes so badly injured that they had to be removed.

Last April, Spaulding was given "Lady" by the Veterans Bureau. Since that time, the dog has been his constant companion.

Boy, 15, Gets Probation in Dad's Slaying

Albert F. Laliberte, 15, of Howard st., Somerville, who stabbed his father to death last Jan. 23 to protect his mother, was placed on probation for two years today by Judge Edward F. Hanify in Middlesex Superior Court.

The youth, who was reunited in court with his mother, Mrs. Florence Laliberte, entered a plea of nolo contendere which the court accepted on recommendation of Asst. Dist. Atty. Ephraim Martin.

Martin told Judge Hanify that on the night of the stabbing, the defendant's father, Albert V. Laliberte, 38, a carpenter, threatened his son. Later, the prosecutor added, while the boy's parents were fighting, Albert saw his father strangling his mother. He ran into the kitchen, grabbed a knife and plunged it into his father's back. In recommending probation, Martin said:

"I have to mind the youth's age and the circumstances of the stabbing. He saw his mother on the floor and thinking she would be strangled, he acted on impulse."

Mrs. Laliberte and her son left the courtroom arm-in-arm.

He 'Takes His Little Brat' But Divorces Aussie Bride

His Australian bride not only refused to come to the United States with him, but she also told him to "take your little brat and get out" Marine Cpl. Daniel J. Sprague of Rosemont rd., Jamaica Plain, testified in Suffolk Probate Court today when he was granted an uncontested divorce from Mrs. Alice Wilson Linford Sprague.

Sprague told the court he met his wife at Heidelberg, Australia, just after returning there from Guadalcanal. He testified he did not know she was already married until he received a letter in New Guinea naming him as correspondent in a divorce action.

Some time later when he was in New Britain, Sprague said, he got a letter from Mrs. Linford telling him he was the father of her baby boy. He returned to Australia and they were married, July 7, 1944, Sprague told the court.

"A week later," Sprague testified, "she told me to take my brat and get out. She said she only married me to get my allotment and she used abusive language."

"Offensive to a Marine?" Judge Wilson queried.

"No, but offensive to a lady," Sprague answered.

He told the court that when she refused to come to this country after the war he arranged with the Red Cross to bring his son here. The boy is now living with friends in Hingham, Sprague testified, adding that he is also satisfied there.

Father, Son Co-op Suspects Are Hunted in Two States

With $16,000 now recovered, State Police today sought a 57-year-old Cambridge businessman and his ex-convict son, the latter 37, for complete solution of the daring $50,000 smoke-bomb robbery Jan. 9 at the Harvard Co-operative Society.

The pair vanished from Cambridge last Saturday—the day of the arrest of Nick Mavrides, 38, nightclub owner—after making reservations for New York both by plane and train.

In Middlesex Superior Court today, Atty. Chester A. Higley, counsel for Mavrides, filed a motion asking for an immediate trial. Judge Hanly took the motion under advisement and said he would confer with Dist. Atty. Thompson before making any decision.

Higley argued he had evidence to prove his client was nowhere near the robbery scene on the holdup day. Commenting on $6750 in cash found in a safe deposit box at a Boston bank, and belonging to Mavrides, Higley stated the money was realized by his client's business enterprises and from settlement of an estate. He said the money was mostly in bills of larger denominations than those stolen from the Co-op.

Mavrides, charged with armed robbery, is the father of four children. He is being held in East Cambridge jail in total bail of $120,000.

Search for the Cambridge father and son was launched after investigators drilled a safe deposit box in a Newton bank and allegedly recovered part of the loot. The box was registered in the name of the Cambridge pair.

The missing son, a gas station holdup man 15 years ago, met Mavrides while both were serving sentences in State Prison. The father is known as a reputable business man.

The hunt for the missing men centered in New Jersey and at Pawtucket, R. I., today.

State Police sped to Pawtucket to search property owned by the father and son. Although they found no one, investigators said the house was stocked with food and the heat was on. Hope they might be located in New Jersey was given police by a person who knows the family well.

Although inspectors were silent, it was learned the father being sought had been seen in the Harvard Co-op and it is believed he "cased" the job—learning just when officers would have a large amount of money on hand to cash checks of Harvard men.

Better broadcloth SHIRTS are going up — and our buyer cuts prices, but good!

No, the man isn't ready for the booby-hatch. He puts it like this:

February is a punk month for shirts. We've got a load of swell ones. So why not cut our profit to a "thin dime"? Maybe that'll keep things humming—maybe a lot of farsighted men will grab this chance to save some real money.

Sounds like good economics, at that. You get some sweet pickings—premium broadcloths, wide selections of collar styles, stripes, patterns. YOU get 'em at big-league savings ...and WE chase the winter doldrums. That way everybody's happy!  Goodness knows where shirt prices are going in the months ahead. But why give it a second thought? Grab an armful of these Bond-tailored beauties right now—and you're sitting pretty!

Youth Tells of Knifing in Brighton Woman's Home

A charge of assault with a dangerous weapon with intent to kill, lodged against Mrs. Ruth Baker Schmidt, 32, Commonwealth ave., Brighton, in the near-fatal stabbing, Jan. 17, of a Brookline youth was reduced to assault with a dangerous weapon today and she was ordered held in $2500 for the grand jury.

A finding of probable cause was made by Judge Thomas Connolly in Brighton District Court after he heard the testimony of Mrs. Schmidt, mother of a 14-year-old daughter, and of William Cushing, 26, Walter ave., Brookline, the victim.

The hearing today had been twice postponed because Cushing stabbed deeply near the heart, had been too weak to appear in court.

SLAPPED HER, HE SAYS

Mrs. Schmidt, daughter of an Army colonel ill in Walter Reed Hospital, admitted she had been seeing Cushing alone in her apartment two or three times a week since Oct. 23, but maintained that he walked into a paring knife she seized to defend herself against his blows when she rejected his improper advances.

Two friends of Cushing, James D. Tierney, 25, and Edward J. Dwyer, 20, both of Walter ave., Brookline—were asleep in her boudoir, fitted out with twin beds, at the time of the alleged attempted attack by the Brookline veteran.

Cushing testified Mrs. Schmidt became hysterical when he awoke and told her he was going out alone for a bit of air.

"I slapped her one," he admitted. "Then she got the knife and that's how it happened."

Tierney and Dwyer testified the first they knew of what had happened was when Cushing woke them with his shirt bloodied.

CLEANSER JUST WATER

CHICAGO, Feb. 6 (AP)—Oscar Tilden, 52, was fined $25 in police court for selling three gallons of what he termed a "super efficient cleaning fluid" for $13.50. The complaint was brought by two customers who said the bottles contained water.

Jury Overboard On Outboard Fired

TAUNTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—A jury acquitted Alfred Lomax, 22, Fall River today on a charge of stealing an outboard motor and was immediately dismissed from further service by Superior Court Judge Joseph L. Hurley with the assertion:

"It has been obvious to everyone in the courtroom, except the jury, that perjury of the worst kind was being committed."

Norman Bolduc, 21, Fall River, who pleaded guilty to the complaint, testified he was alone when the motor was stolen.

Bolduc was sentenced to a year in the house of correction.

All But 100 Million of U. S. Loan to British Withdrawn

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—Britain has taken out all but $100,000,000 of the U. S. $3,750,000,000 loan granted it in July, 1946.

The Treasury today announced another $100,000,000 withdrawal, making total withdrawals $3,650,000,000. At the present rate of use, Britain will have wiped out the rest of the loan within another month.

Cop Pays His Fine But That's Not All

A Connecticut State trooper paid a $20 fine for Harry Dodge, 45, New Bedford, today but the latter was hardly happy about it. Dodge was given a 40-day sentence by Judge Adlow Wednesday for vagrancy when the New Bedford man couldn't get up the cash. Probation Officer James Flavin sent out a routine teletype message about Dodge.

Police of Manfield, Ct., found it interesting. Dodge was wanted to face a charge of assault.

FASTTEETH, a pleasant alkaline (non-acid) powder holds false teeth more firmly. To eat and talk in more comfort, just sprinkle a little FASTTEETH on your plate. No gummy, gooey, nasty taste or feeling. Checks "plate color" (denture breath). Get FASTTEETH at any drug store.

Unable to get Dodge out of the pokey without liquidating the fine, State Trooper Frank Shea wired his superiors for permission to pay it. Permission was granted, Dodge was released and off he went with Shea after waiving extradition.

Britain to Take Over Electric Utilities

LONDON, Feb. 6 (AP)—Hugh Gaiskill announced today the government will take ownership of Britain's electric utilities April 1. Gaiskill, minister of fuel and power, made the announcement in the House of Commons.

Legislation nationalizing the nation's entire generating and distribution system was passed by Parliament last year.

"A very appropriate date," cracked a Conservative MP on the choice of April 1.

Reds Cancel Play On Propaganda Grounds

MOSCOW, Feb. 6 (AP)—A play called "Plain Soviet Citizen" has been withdrawn from production after tens of thousands of rubles were spent on it.

The trade paper Trud announced this today and inquired why no attention had been paid to passages full of Kulak vituperation against collective farms, and also passages concerning a boy, a girl and the marriage bureau.

$250,000 OHIO FIRE

AKRON, O., Feb. 6 (INS)—Three-story brick business building at the main intersection in suburban Cuyahoga Falls was destroyed today in a five-hour, $250,000 fire. No one was injured.

Probers Refuse To Clear Pauley

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (INS)—The Senate committee investigating commodity market speculation today refused to exonerate Edwin W. Pauley and Brig.-Gen. Wallace Graham of charges that they gambled in grains with "top level" information.

The motion to exonerate Graham, White House physician, and Pauley, assistant to Army Sec. Royall, was made by Democratic members.

The vote was three to two along straight party lines. The committee also voted to request $20,000 to continue its inquiry. The two Democratic members did not cast ballots on this proposal.

McPonders Terminal Parking Lots

Mayor Curley, heads of city departments and Gen. Mgr. Edward Dana of the Met conferred today on the possibility of providing large-scale parking facilities at heavy transfer points on the system.

Logan Airport, Sullivan sq. and Forest Hills were among the stations discussed as points where large parking areas were needed. The mayor said a public hearing will be held in a few weeks regarding the discontinuance of traffic at Ziegler st., between Washington and Warren sts. Roxbury has would provide additional in-around space for tracks and trolleys, which are to be installed eventually on lines out of the Dudley st. terminal.

Democrats Join GOP in Budget Cut

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (INS)—The Joint Legislative Budget Committee today voted 44 to 16 for a net cut of two and one-half billion dollars in President Truman's 1949 budget of $39,700,000,000.

Chairman Bridges (R.) of New Hampshire, and Vice Chairman Taber (R.) of New York, said the outstanding feature of the session was that the Democrats at first "opposed any cut in the budget, then agreed to increase it above our two and one-half billion dollar."

33 YEARS' SERVICE
TO AMERICA

The judge's impromptu tirade against the health laws came on the second day of the trial of Avidies Hajinlian 60, Heath st., Chelsea, charged with maintaining an unlicensed lodging house, failing to provide proper heat and three counts of violating the building code.

The cellar apartment, occupied by Albert Frost, 19, and his wife, Mary, 16, has a cement floor and a bath and lavatory in the bedroom without separating partitions.

To the five-man board of health, including three doctors, all summoned to appear before him, Judge McLeod said:

"We must do something about such conditions. It seems to me that even in these times of housing shortages, people should not have to resort to such primitivism."

"The health laws are sadly inadequate. Some date back to 1902. The health department has been handed out to police by the 1911.

"Just a short while ago 16 gypsies were living in one room in this city and nothing was done about it.

"I will be glad to help revise the laws for presentation to the board of aldermen."

The judge overrode a protest from one of the doctors that the housing conditions were a matter for the building department, not the health department.

"I believe it's a health matter," said the judge.

Overruling a motion by Hajinian's counsel that the defendant be found not guilty on the ground the complaints against him were faulty, Judge McLeod continued the case to next Friday.

In the interval, he said, he would study the testimony, seek out statutes applying to the case and order the issuance of new complaints.

Keep Buildings²¹ Cool to Save Oil, Is Warning

Users of heavy heating oil in Massachusetts were called upon today by State Fuel Oil Co-ordinator George H. Rockwell to practice conservation or face the grim prospect of heatless industrial plants, stores and public buildings.

Shortage of household fuel oil and kerosene still was acute but there was a cheerful note in the picture. The Texas Co. today furnished 420,000 gallons of No. 2 household heating oil to the State Fuel Co. of East Boston assuring supplies for hundreds of households.

In addition, the Texas Co. announced 2,100,000 gallons destined for another Boston dealer, who is being loaded at Port Arthur, Tex. Loans of surplus supplies here and there also were alleviating the situation and oil executives were more optimistic despite the continuing shortage.

SAVES STORES TOO WARM

In his warning to users of heavy oil, Rockwell said many stores in Massachusetts were maintaining temperatures up to 85 degrees. Such temperatures are unnecessary, he said, recommending that the temperatures be reduced to 65 to conserve dwindling oil supplies.

In New York, Eugene Holman, President of Standard Oil of New Jersey, said oil executives can't give the "all clear" as yet, but he did not think the situation would be critical over the next four or five weeks, barring unusually severe weather. He summed up by saying:

"I think we've got the situation licked."

CHICKEN INDUSTRY HIT

M. J. Rathbone, president of Essex Standard Oil Co., said the weather is not altogether responsible. There is an abnormally high increase in oil consumption throughout the country, he said. This winter is 30 per cent more severe than last and in the East it has been 5 per cent colder than normal.

The kerosene shortage hit the chicken industry yesterday. Karl Gordon, a Dighton oil dealer said 75,000 chickens faced freezing unless kerosene to heat their coops was provided. Gordon was given an emergency ration of 200 gallons to keep the chickens warm by Fuel Oil Co-ordinator Francis H. Murray, of New Bedford.

Eisler Deportation As Red Quickly Set

NEW YORK, Feb. 6 (AP)—The federal government took less than half an hour today to complete its deportation case against Hanns Eisler, motion picture song writer accused of being a former Communist party member.

Eisler, 49, is a brother of Gerhart Eisler, described by a House committee as America's "No. 1 Communist."

A government spokesman indicated Hanns might be out of the country by Feb. 28. The inspector who conducted the hearing will present his findings soon, with final decision on the deportation resting with U. S. Atty. Gen. Tom Clark.

Hanns offered no defense at today's immigration service hearing.

The newly-appointed coach announced in Chicago that his wife, Mary, presented him their first child, a six-pound girl, Tuesday.

AIRLINE REBATES IF LATE
ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 6 (AP)—Northwest Airlines proposes to rebate five per cent of ticket prices when planes are more than 30 minutes late effective March 15, under a proposal filed with the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Amvets Reveal Russia Using U. S. Ships to Take Our Goods

The Mass. Dept. of Amvets, having taken the lead in demanding that Congress curtail shipments of petroleum and other industrial products to the countries behind the "iron curtain," went a step farther today when it made public the results of its investigation into the extent of this trade.

Backed by photographic evidence, the Amvet survey showed that Russian ships, some of them lend-lease vessels, the return of which our government has demanded for more than a year, loaded thousands of tons of heavy industrial equipment at a New Jersey terminal.

Essex County Com. Charles K. Morrill, accompanied by a photographer personally investigated the recent loading of two Russian ships at the New Jersey terminal. While the photographer, George Hagopian, snapped the loading operations, Morrill was able to list the cargoes and the names of the American firms doing business with the Soviet. He was finally ousted by a terminal official, but not before he had completed this phase of the investigation.

During the first nine months of 1947, the Amvet survey showed American firms exported $113,683,722 in goods and raw materials to Russia. Of this amount, more than $16,000,000 was in lend-lease goods, Morrill said.

Rubinstein Draft Conviction Upheld

NEW YORK, Feb. 6 (AP)—The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals today upheld conviction of Serge Rubinstein, international financier, on four counts of a five-count indictment, charging violation of the Selective Service act.

On the other count, alleging false statements with respect to dependency claims, the court reversed the conviction two to one. The decision results in a reduction of Rubinstein's fine from $34,000 to $40,000, but it does not affect the prison sentence of 30 months he is serving in the Lewisburg, Pa., federal prison.

Japan's Population Gained Million in 1947

TOKYO, Feb. 6 (AP)—Japan's birth rate is increasing and her death rate declining. The Welfare Ministry announced today the population gained 1,050,000 last year. Japan's population is estimated at 80,000,000.

Drop of 798,000 Jobs in January

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—Employment dropped 798,000 in January, the census bureau reported today.

That carried the total number of job holders down to 57,149,000, lowest level since last April.

The decline was concentrated in non-farming work and resulted largely from seasonal factors, such as the lay-off of women, young persons and older men who had taken temporary jobs for the Christmas season.

Logan Crash Tied to Snow On Runways

Runways at Logan Airport were snow-coated on Jan. 21 when a four-motored Eastern Airlines plane skidded while landing in a snowstorm, crashed into a snow-pile and burst into flames, causing injuries to 13 of the 25 persons aboard, according to testimony given before a board of inquiry meeting at the Hotel Manger today.

Atty. Gen. Lehr of Hillsdale, N. J., told the Civil Aeronautics Board that in his opinion the runway had not been cleaned wide enough for the plane to land.

Lehr also told CAB hearing Chief Robert W. Crisp and the eight-man board that the plane was in darkness after the crash and that there were no ropes or ladders in the rear hatch from which most of the passengers made their escape.

Another passenger Leslie Cunningham, Elizabeth, N. J., said the landing felt normal to him until the plane had rolled 50 feet on the ground. Then, he said, it felt as though the brakes were being applied and the plane began to swerve.

A third passenger, Herbert J. Freezer, New York, said he thought the plane did not land straight on the runway.

Depositions from five other passengers were read by an investigator of CAB. All detailed the happenings aboard the plane from the time of the approach to the runway until they dropped 15 feet from a rear hatch of the burning plane.

A deposition was from a pilot who landed at the field an hour before the crash was also read. This pilot said that when he came in the runway was well sanded and that he had been informed by the control tower that the runway lights were outside the snowpiles, paralleling the runway.

U.S., British Ignore Moscow, Set Up Rule for Reich Bizonia

BERLIN, Feb. 6 (AP)—The United States and Britain, ignoring Russian demands for dissolution of Bizonia, proclaimed today a stronger economic administration for the two zones with a high court to enforce decisions.

This is the framework:

1—A state council, or upper house made up of two representatives named by each of the state governments.

2—The economic council, or lower house. This will control railways, coastal shipping, inland transport, customs, some excise taxes, communications, patents, price control, bizonal finances, foreign and domestic trade, gas, water, electricity, and the distribution of goods, raw materials and food. It can override a state council veto by an absolute majority. Its present membership of 54 will be increased to 104 by elections in state parliaments of the British and American zones.

3—A high court, sitting at Cologne in the British zone. It will consist of 10 members named by the U. S. and British military governors from a list of 25 candidates submitted by the two houses. The court will "owe obedience only to the law," the proclamation said.

4—An executive committee. This will have a chairman and five directors heading bizonal departments of economics, finance, transportation, communication, and food and agriculture. Its members will be elected by the economic council and confirmed by the state council.

British and American spokesmen said the proclamation must not be construed as a constitution for western Germany. They said it was a temporary arrangement to meet emergencies, but expressed hope it would stimulate discussion of the future formation of a new government.

The Communist press, however, called the proclamation a new western pact.

Another Medical Hoax Revealed

To the credulous diabetic patients of Charles Frederick Kaadt, his treatment meant no needle, no insulin—and a secret formula.

The "secret formula" consisted largely of vinegar and saltpeter, and those who trusted it too long have died. Meanwhile, Kaadt was making thousands of dollars as he sold his potion at $30 a gallon.

Now he and his dangerous scheme were finally crushed will be told in the article, "The Wonderful Vinegar Jug," in Sunday's American Weekly, magazine issued with the Boston Sunday Advertiser, as another in the popular "Medical Hucksters" series.

Hub Roadblock

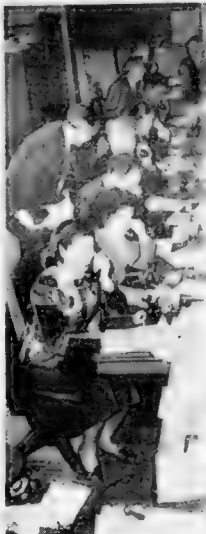

Out of Luck—Typical of the roadblocks that give Boston motorists that weary look is this common illustration of parking technique in Kingston st., looking from Beach to Bedford, at 2:45 p. m. This aperture between the two trucks parked at right angles to the third might feaze even a elf on a tricycle.

Against the Law—They can't do this to us, officer! Or can they? Here is Kingston st., viewed from Bedford in the direction of Summer, at 2:20 p. m. Parking on both sides of the street, forbidden, makes a one-lane street of a street that could do better.

Park and the World Parks With You—That truck half way down Lincoln st., on the right facing Essex st., is an example of what double-parking will do to a street where cars line both curbs. Ah well, "the parking lot was full, officer, and I was only going to stay a minute, honest." (See story on page 4.)

Vivisection Bill Threat to Her Joy

Happy... Now—The vivisection bill, to be given a public hearing Feb. 24 at the State House, could deprive such youngsters as Valerie Senzi, South End, of the happiness that little puppies bring. Should Valerie's dog, Duchess, or any of the pups, wander from home and end up at a dog pound, they would be turned over for vivisection under the proposed bill.

MR. TRUMAN'S ERRORS

IN THIS presidential election year, there is one overshadowing issue. It turns on the recent incompetence of Mr. Truman as generalissimo of national economic housekeeping.

On vital matters of national economic policy, President Truman's judgment and timing have been faulty.

The fluctuating popular attitudes toward his fumbling are less fundamentally important than the need of full disclosure in simple and factual language of his ineptitude.

The inherent weakness of the Truman policy of backing and filling is written indelibly in his record.

First, Mr. Truman blundered in demobilizing the military might of the United States with indecent haste.

It is no defense to assert that this was done in response to popular demand, because in the period following the cessation of fighting public opinion in the United States was denied access to the basic facts which were concealed in secret deals and unpublished documents.

At the time, the public was not told precisely what had occurred at Yalta. The evidence of Russian duplicity recently disclosed in the Hitler-Stalin pact of 1939.

The dismantling of American naval, military and air strength when the Russian armies remained intact and the history of the past two and a half years. Our Administration behaved as though peace was at hand, when in fact it was blocked by Soviet policy.

SECOND, MR. TRUMAN in his November 17th message to the special session of the 80th Congress and again in his subsequent State of the Union message sought to reverse himself on wage and price controls and rationing on a selective basis.

He earlier inconsistently thought that the time to scrap them had come in 1945 and 1946, and he did in fact exercise his discretionary power to reverse himself on wage and price controls and rationing on a selective basis.

Now fearing the consequences of his earlier decisions, he wants Congressional authority to back track.

After dropping wage controls in October, 1945, President Truman on November 8, 1945, eliminated price control, except on rents.

Third, there has been no inner consistency or harmony in the attitude of the Truman Administration toward post-armistice tax policy. In 1945, when the nation was still confronted by a huge budgetary deficit, Mr. Truman signed a tax bill, passed by the Democratic Congress, which eliminated reduced the corporation income tax rate, while slightly cutting personal income tax rates.

Then in 1947, when a budgetary surplus was in sight, Mr. Truman in the 80th Congress reduced the personal income tax rate to reduce personal income taxes adopted by the Republican Congress on the ground that the time was inopportune for tax revision. He never explained why tax revision was deferred in 1945, but not in 1947.

FURTHERMORE, in January, 1948, when the budgetary outlook was worsened by the Administration's increased program for foreign expenditures, Mr. Truman proposed that personal income taxes be reduced to the tune of $40 per taxpayer and per dependent.

As an offset, he suggested that corporation income taxes, the cutting of which he approved in 1945, should be raised in 1948 on the ground that corporate profits were too large. If indeed they are too big, the results reflects his 1945 policy of reducing corporate taxes, which automatically swelled corporate profits after taxes.

At a time when it is necessary to put the nation's economic house in order, Mr. Truman, who vacillated without fundamental understanding in his own policies, BLOCKED AT EVERY TURN efforts of the majority of the opposing party in the 80th Congress to heighten national productivity through budgetary economy, through tax revision, and through revision of such fundamentals as labor legislation.

SO YOU'RE TIRED of hearing what I had for breakfast? I want to hear what Winston Churchill had for a dinner celebrating his recovery from a siege of bronchitis?

The menu of the Churchillian repast: Clear soup, turbot, veal cutlets, French peas, butter and champagne. Followed by a huge hairy cake and a very heavy party that Churchill.

ASKING: Queries from clients. Q—All right, smart boy, tell us, who was the original "Paper Women" of the film, A—L. B. Glum.

Q—What Louise Glum about? Answer is vague, ur. What about Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) female? Are you interested in the approach and capture of one? Or in the care, handling and feeding of one?

Aquarian women are hard to get and a little on the chilly side unless tremendously improved. It has been commented: "The Aquarian girl is as cold as ice. In fact, she is very hard to know." A Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) male has the 23rd degree of Miel, male has the Aquarian female. Or so say the star gazers.

PLEASE NOTE: Before the war bricklayers were paid $138 for an eight-hour day and laid 540 bricks. Now they are paid $186 for an eight-hour day and lay 540 bricks. The average home-building enterprise is turning out 46 per cent less work than in 1940 and being paid 39 per cent more. Such are the findings of a recent survey.

PARTY: "Synthetic" red-headed stagehands are plentiful in Hollywood, Los Angeles.

and San Francisco. "Writes a California executive's amanuensis. 'But natural red-heads are a distinct rarity in the California film industry. They are free natural red-heads are rare in all California.'

INEBRIATED MOUSE: Pleading for recognition in the limelight, a mouse, a subscriber and his wife were automatically invited to a pouring of a glass of creme de cacao on the floor and putting the mouse in the limelight. Asked for an explanation, the bartender said that every night between 6 and 6:30 a mouse came and after drinking the creme de cacao, picked up the cheese, and obviously inebriated, staggered off with it.

ASIDES: The Italian Twins Society has a record of a Sicilian woman who has had 22 sets of twins, all of whom are living. I would like to see a picture of that family.

You are absolutely right about the "being four" writes a Bostonian. "My wife consumed six martinis on the night of the other night and then came home, with her hat on, and said: 'I'm four!'

SIDELIGHTS: In Pam Roberts, Cal. twin named Hilla and Willis married twin named Zora and Nora. This would make a better story if one pair of these twins had become the parents of twins and named them Flora and Dora. . . . One twin is positively not a racing track to make money but just to keep out in the open air for a few hours and break even. Which can do with my system. And that's good enough for me.

RECORD TRIPS: As for "revers" bus trips. Honey-mooners Marie and Alfred Hiss, of Corona, L. I. boarded a bus in the heart of Manhattan. From there they went to Chicago, Buffalo, Miami, Spokane, Wash.; Portland, Ore.; San Francisco, Los Angeles, "Tomboyland, Ariz.; El Paso, Tex.; Ft. Worth, Tex.; Memphis, Tenn.; Nashville, Tenn.; New Orleans, La.; Washington, D. C.; Baltimore, Philadelphia and back to where they started.

TOY CAMP BACK: That rats come back to humans from which they have been taken, is a story which is well known. But, have you ever heard of a cow that came back? A cow owned an English farmer was sold and sent to another farm again and again but wouldn't stay there. In six occasions this cow came back to its owner but he returned the money paid for the home-loving bovine and kept her.

I wrote to Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone, who replied that he was "profoundly disturbed" by the matter. I agreed with my suspicion that there was a leak. Chief Justice Stone then had been a case some time before in which peculiar circumstances absolutely proved there was a leak. It was indicated that he suspected the same Justice.

I TALKED OF general matters briefly before I left. Indicating a pair of ragged documents about a foot high, but I asked him if he had to read them. These were petitions of convicts in Federal prison who were asking for clemency or got other convicts, with more or less education, to help them. It was the Chief Justice who read them every one. Yet, in many cases, the judges of our Federal District Courts actually do not read them. They are, however, glibly decide the "facts" in the dark of the moon on the safe assumption that there will be no publicity.

By E. V. Darling

Copyright 1948, King Features Synd., Inc. I realize, of course, that I am deciding an important case on a question of fact he may gracefully decline to exhibit his thoughts in a formal opinion. I know also, however, that writing can be the most intimate and most physical labor and, knowing something about judges, I suspect the fellow who, like an umpire in a ball game, decides a close one with a snap and turns his back and walks away.

I accept snap decisions, without objection, only on the wide ones. Umpires are not in cases involving interpretation of rules. These are the questions of baseball law.

On questions of fact, that is, in plays wherein the umpire's eye is the sole authority as to whether the ball or the player was first to the bag, the umpire rules on the instant and brooks no dispute.

IN BASEBALL that is well, but in our courts it is bad. In baseball sportsmanship is supposed to prevail and the victim of a bad decision is supposed to take it without a word of complaint. But sport and justice are separate institutions. The citizen who never be there again. Do him injustice that you may make an anarchist of him.

BUT IF INJUSTICE must be done through honest error by the judge, why be decided as he did. There is a class of federal cases in which, through laziness, discouragement, initial lack of courage or political corruption of soul, we judge badly ourselves. It is a safe for such a judge to throw a case out of court, thus refusing to decide the case, which cannot be appealed or which the Department of Justice will not take the trouble to appeal, even if the right of appeal is there.

THE DEPARTMENT OF Justice sometimes goes through false motions of protest and goes through actually trying. Judges know this. The consent decree of the Department of Justice, meaning the people of the United States, in prosecutions of union racketeers is too notorious to need to be mentioned. I believe the Harry Bridges deportation case is suspect, in that the Department of Justice was not sure if any American citizens ever should act in judgment.

Only judges act in this case because it involves a person for a writ of habeas corpus. But, Bridges lost all the way to the Supreme Court, where the bench had been lashed by the Supreme Court with the advice of a college of professors. That was clever, keeping the issue and the evidence out of reach of the jury.

IN NATURALIZATION cases, particularly where the petitioner is the protégé of some powerful person, the Department of Justice consistently decides in favor of the immigrants in flagrant defiance of the facts. We have only the court's impending decision to guide us in these cases. The prophet ever denies the judges who would dissent, thus, by inference, calling the names of those who would give the decision. He was 100 per cent correct.

I KNEW PRIVATELY, through a member of the court, that that prophet had had an understanding in the past with another member of the court, whereby the soothsayer received exclusive advance information in return for personal publicity favorable to the judge.

I wrote to Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone, who replied that he was "profoundly disturbed" by the matter. I agreed with my suspicion that there was a leak. Chief Justice Stone then had been a case some time before in which peculiar circumstances absolutely proved there was a leak. It was indicated that he suspected the same Justice.

I TALKED OF general matters briefly before I left. Indicating a pair of ragged documents about a foot high, but I asked him if he had to read them. These were petitions of convicts in Federal prison who were asking for clemency or got other convicts, with more or less education, to help them. It was the Chief Justice who read them every one. Yet, in many cases, the judges of our Federal District Courts actually do not read them. They are, however, glibly decide the "facts" in the dark of the moon on the safe assumption that there will be no publicity.

Copyright 1948, King Features Synd., Inc. I realize, of course, that I am deciding an important case on a question of fact he may gracefully decline to exhibit his thoughts in a formal opinion. I know also, however, that writing can be the most intimate and most physical labor and, knowing something about judges, I suspect the fellow who, like an umpire in a ball game, decides a close one with a snap and turns his back and walks away.

I accept snap decisions, without objection, only on the wide ones. Umpires are not in cases involving interpretation of rules. These are the questions of baseball law.

On questions of fact, that is, in plays wherein the umpire's eye is the sole authority as to whether the ball or the player was first to the bag, the umpire rules on the instant and brooks no dispute.

IN BASEBALL that is well, but in our courts it is bad. In baseball sportsmanship is supposed to prevail and the victim of a bad decision is supposed to take it without a word of complaint. But sport and justice are separate institutions. The citizen who never be there again. Do him injustice that you may make an anarchist of him.

BUT IF INJUSTICE must be done through honest error by the judge, why be decided as he did. There is a class of federal cases in which, through laziness, discouragement, initial lack of courage or political corruption of soul, we judge badly ourselves. It is a safe for such a judge to throw a case out of court, thus refusing to decide the case, which cannot be appealed or which the Department of Justice will not take the trouble to appeal, even if the right of appeal is there.

THE DEPARTMENT OF Justice sometimes goes through false motions of protest and goes through actually trying. Judges know this. The consent decree of the Department of Justice, meaning the people of the United States, in prosecutions of union racketeers is too notorious to need to be mentioned. I believe the Harry Bridges deportation case is suspect, in that the Department of Justice was not sure if any American citizens ever should act in judgment.

Only judges act in this case because it involves a person for a writ of habeas corpus. But, Bridges lost all the way to the Supreme Court, where the bench had been lashed by the Supreme Court with the advice of a college of professors. That was clever, keeping the issue and the evidence out of reach of the jury.

IN NATURALIZATION cases, particularly where the petitioner is the protégé of some powerful person, the Department of Justice consistently decides in favor of the immigrants in flagrant defiance of the facts. We have only the court's impending decision to guide us in these cases. The prophet ever denies the judges who would dissent, thus, by inference, calling the names of those who would give the decision. He was 100 per cent correct.

I KNEW PRIVATELY, through a member of the court, that that prophet had had an understanding in the past with another member of the court, whereby the soothsayer received exclusive advance information in return for personal publicity favorable to the judge.

Carrier to Hurl Atom Planes Seen as Newest Navy Design

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—Planes big enough to carry atomic bombs may be able to operate from a giant new American aircraft carrier. The proposed addition of a $100-to-$200,000 flat-top and other experimental war-planes was first hinted at a month ago by President Truman. The President proposed in his budget message to Congress that 30,000,000 which would have been used instead to build fighting ships of advance design.

MISSILES ADVANCING

It remained, however, for Navy Sec. Sullivan to provide the still sketchy details of what those ships will look like. And Sullivan made another disclosure: the hopes for guided missile development are somewhat ahead of accomplished fact. Therefore the Navy is slowing down its plans for converting the hulls of two big seaplanes into guided missile launching craft. Construction work in the battleship Kentucky and the battle cruiser Hawaii will be postponed indefinitely. Sullivan steered a cautious

Richberg Calls Red-Inspired Strikes a Peril

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (INS)—Donald R. Richberg warned Congress today that Communist-inspired strikes have become an increasing menace since the end of the war and would threaten the national security in the event of a depression.

Richberg, former OPA counsel and NLRB chief, testified before the House un-American activities legislative committee. He said: "Since the conclusion of the war, we have seen numerous strikes intended not to benefit the worker but to disturb the American economic situation primarily which I believe were instigated by Communists. In time of depression or recession activities of this type may become a matter of very great national moment."

Richberg urged legislation to force Communists to register as members of a secret political organization.

He commented: "I don't think that the right of free speech, free press, or secrecy of the ballot is in the slightest degree involved when it comes to a question of a subversive political organization."

Richberg declared that the "greatest constitutional right we are in danger of losing right now is our liberty."

He contended that the Supreme Court would be justified in reversing decisions favorable to Communists—made during the war when they were allies. Richberg remarked:

"Since then we have had a complete unmasking of the wolf which was covered up at the time by the fact that we were allies."

Alert Guard Halts Knifing At State Prison

Alertness of Perley Vance, a State Prison guard, prevented a possible serious outbreak today when a convict pulled a knife from his clothing during an argument with another inmate in the prison yard.

Vance saw the flash of the knife and disarmed the convict, Frank Creorian, 32, alias Frank Corey, who has been in the prison since May 6, 1927, serving a life term for robbery.

Both Creorian and his intended victim, Joseph Nogueira, 24, who entered the prison Sept. 10, 1946, to serve a 4 to 7-year term for armed robbery, were placed in solitary confinement.

The two were among a group of 30 inmates, making up the kitchen gang, who were returning from showers to the kitchen.

Creorian was sentenced to a life term for robbery in March 1926, after a Suffolk Superior Court jury previously acquitted him of a charge of murder in the strangling of Mrs. Mae Price, wardrobe mistress of a theatrical company, in the Hotel Hollis, May 30, 1925.

Creorian was acquitted of murder three months after the death but, for the first time in Massachusetts history, was found guilty of robbery on the same evidence the following March. His appeal to the Supreme Judicial Court was denied.

Kerosene Shipping Subsidy Asked

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—Government subsidy of tank car movements of kerosene and space heater oil to fuel shortage areas was urged today by Rep. Philip (D) of Massachusetts.

Philbin asked President Truman by telegram to use disaster emergency funds or any other money available to speed transportation of light heating oils to needy areas at prices poor people can pay.

He told Mr. Truman that kerosene is the fuel used by low income families in small spare heaters. This type of fuel has been used up.

are stalled beyond the reach of on both sides of the bridge, the intown side, the cars were backed in lines extending back on Atlantic ave., into Congress and clear back to Haymarket. Drivers out of sight of the bridge had no way of knowing they were stalled; they said it took it if they couldn't edge of line for a detour—and few of them could do that.

SMALL INADEQUACY

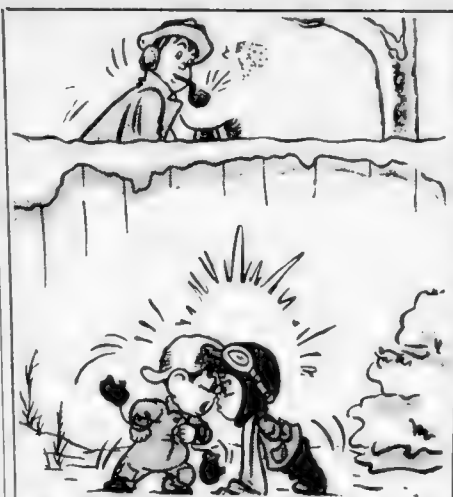

Vessels such as our precocious not incidentally, make use of drawbridges mostly for just concerns, and the bridges are mostly for those concerns. The Summer st. bridge carries enormous flow of auto traffic on outlet to the Cape and ways. Its Atlantic ave. feeder carries thousands of cars daily north of Boston, as well as flow of big trucks which come on and use Dorchester ave. as a departure route.

In this setup, with Dewey sq.'s commuter brigades aloft, the Albany st. freight sheds, by a magnet for trucks and other combinations, is dismally inadequate not only for the future but for the present.

NOBODY WILL PAY

Except for removal of the Elmsire along Atlantic ave., it is was 54 years ago and more. The city is going to get no parking program. When property values were much low and the need for off-street parking was almost nonexistent, by inching-along and time-consuming traffic it is today, city officials are looking the other way. The driver will pay the difference.

Another bottleneck is Albany and Broadway, where street autos and trucks on Broadway have to fight it out with trolleys trying to reach South Boston, Dorchester and points north by way of Albany st. trucks loading at the Albany st.

— Frank Walter. Copyright 1948. King Features Synd. Inc.

freight sheds are within the law if they leave 10 feet of passage-way for traffic. At times, passenger cars have to be barred and detoured.

HOMESICK FOR BUGLES

The bridge on Broadway over the railroad tracks, designed for two lanes of traffic each way, is reduced by snow accumulations to a single-lane on each side. Lack of snow removal, even in winters much milder than this, automatically cloaks the bridge with an aura of nostalgia for the horse-and-buggy days.

In the multi-million-dollar traffic projects the legislature will consider this year to the tune of more than $300,000,000 for Metropolitan Boston alone, a second East Boston tunnel, or a six-lane skyway bridge will be advanced. The bridge advocates and the tunnel supporters are reportedly agreed on one point: This end of things, whether bridge or tunnel, should be located near the South Station. They are agreed, also, it should hook into a great new central artery, a vast loop to feed, and be fed by, master highways around its circumference. It would do a lot for exits like the Summer st. bridge.

Ex-Gov. Brann's Widow Gets Truman Sympathy

LEWISTON, Me., Feb. 6 (AP)—Personal condolences from President Truman were received by Mrs. Louis J. Brann, widow of Maine's former Democratic Governor who was buried here.

cause in topheavy grain prices, swollen out of proportion to supply and demand. Weakness in the sensitive Chicago Grain Pit spread like burning oil to other exchanges, to the stock market, to wholesale commodity markets.

Reports from all over the nation have mentioned the skittish attitude of investors, speculators and businessmen. They have watched prices climb, have figured a break had to come sooner or later.

The crack of the past two days might be the tip-off. Selling orders flooded markets, buyers stood aloof.

Underlying factors affecting prices have not changed in two days, many comment—emphasized.

While the experts have called for an early "readjustment of prices"—perhaps in a mood of wishful thinking—there are still to be considered such factors as a huge money supply and a record high rational income, the rising level of wages, high taxes, high industrial production, government monetary policies, the foreign aid program.

Cut-Spending Campaign Off to Running Start

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—The government reported signs today that its campaign to cut spending for scarce foods is off to a running start.

The Agriculture Dept. said a review of market trends since the first of the year shows widespread resistance by housewives to the high price of butter and choice meat cuts.

Demand for meat in some areas the report said, has turned sluggish. Consumers are showing more interest in cow and chuck steak, veal and lamb, less in steaks and roasts from top grade steers.

Athens Orders Unidentified Subs Sunk

ATHENS, Feb. 6 (AP)—Greece today ordered its warships to attack and sink all unidentified submarines in Greek territorial waters.

The order followed the reported appearance of two strange submarines.

One was reported between Peloponnese and Crete, and the other off the coast of Preveza, the Ionian sea.

Troop and supply ships now are being escorted by destroyers and corvettes equipped with depth charges.

The submarine reported seen between Peloponnese and Crete was said to have attempted to make contact with a vessel and approached her, but submerged before reaching it.

The ministry of public order said a guerrilla band of 80 to 100 fighters clashed with government units of Pyl Village on Mt. Parnon, only 11 miles from Athens.

Reds Charge U. S. Planning War

MOSCOW, Feb. 6 (AP)—True Soviet trade-union newspaper, said today the United States is planning a war and compared budget of the Soviet Union and the United States to prove it.

"Even according to official figures, the proportion of United States expenditure for the Army and Navy is fixed at 30 per cent of the total budget," it said, and added:

"The USSR proportion to the total of the defense expenditure is 17 per cent. The language of figures is an eloquent language."

French Communists Plan Big Drive

PARIS, Feb. 6 (AP)—Communists rallied their forces today for demonstrations throughout France Sunday against the government monetary measures. City and factory workers were called on to participate.

The Communist party and Communist-dominated confederation of labor urged Frenchmen demand wage increases and attack the government's financial laws, including devaluation of the franc.

Nazi Munitions Dumped In Sea Rock Danish City

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 6 (AP)—Aarhus, second largest city in Denmark, was rocked today by the explosion of several thousand tons of German munitions which previously had been sunk off the coast.

The blast was the third of kind since munitions were submerged for purposes of sale. Today's blast caused only slight damage and no one was hurt.

Canal Zone Fears Second Pearl Harbor

By DAVID SENTNER
Special Case Dispatch to The Boston American

ANCON, Canal Zone, Feb. 6.—Nine out of ten of the more than 52,000 residents of the Panama Canal Zone are fearful of another Pearl Harbor here in the event of war with Soviet Russia.

The apprehension is due to:

- 1.—The Anderson housing in existence everywhere in the zone;
- 2.—The most loss of defensive bases in the area;
- 3.—The failure of the Republic of Panama to co-operate with canal zone authorities in black-outs during the late war.

Many residents believe in the desirability of a second canal in Nicaragua in order to start fresh.

The feeling that the zone is a potential powder for a single incendiary bomb which could turn the area into a raging inferno is reflected in housing survey report from civil and labor organization received today by Gov. Mehlig.

The report said:

"Our survey conclusively indicated the existing housing facilities are inefficient in that a majority of family quarters are obsolete, poorly constructed, termite-ridden, unsightly frame structures which constitute a fire hazard."

Eleven Dogs Suffocated in Reading Kennel Fire

READING, Feb. 6.—Although firemen would over 11 dogs, suffocated by fumes when the Forest Glen kennel, Main st., here, caught fire, one could be saved.

Only one, a cocker spaniel, was rescued by the owner of the kennel, Sidney Wilkins, who placed the value of the dead dogs at $2,000.

The association is conducting a $500,000 drive to finance its war on cardiac diseases.

Hip Exercise for Dieters

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

WHEN THE "hippy" silhouette came into prominence last year . . . with pads, "folderol," and other hip-hefty artifices in suits and dresses fashion acclaimed for a curved, feminine figure . . . the women of America justifiably let out a hip-hefty hue and cry because that was what they already had plenty of. For them it was no hip-hip-hooray style event.

THERE'S no hip-hip-hooray for the "hippy" even though fashion accents this trying sphere of a woman's body. But subsequent to the NEW LOOK diet series . . . this NEW LOOK exercise regime should fix the problem and make every woman happy. This Elizabeth Arden Salon upper hip slimmer is one of the best.

While several topflight designers are still padding hips for an extension that vicariously accents a tiny waistline . . . most women would rather forget the fashion focus on the hips, one of the bulgiest in too many figures. The hips should be a smooth curve from waistline to thigh.

But, alas, the heavy hip presages a heavy thigh . . . and, invariably, the whole figure proportion is thrown out of line. For the upper hip controls the back line which, to be smoothly beautiful, delicately feminine, mustn't protrude like the Rock of Gibraltar in the Mediterranean Sea.

HIP SLIMNESS NEEDED

Fashion models are, of course, completely hipless. But who can be like a fashion model? And who wants to be? They are of an entirely different anatomical ilk. But while we don't strive to emulate the almost painfully thin model's figure . . . we should attempt to approximate, within healthful reason, hip slimness if our new wardrobe is going to merit the greenbacks we plan to spend for it.

At the Elizabeth Arden Salon they sponsor rhythmic exercises to help fight fatigue, conserve energy, save nerves, improve circulation, discipline pounds and as a supplementary guarantee of reduced figure measurements after dieting for weight reduction. They urge a 10-minute exercise period a day in pursuit of a figure blueprint for health and beauty through body building and good grooming.

HELPS THE ABDOMEN, TOO

They insist that a woman must exercise consistently to achieve and preserve a lovely figure. Which, of course, may be difficult for all women! However, exercise is important as a follow-up course to a diet regime and since all of us are coveting that "NEW LOOK" figure . . . let us not give these outlined twists and turns the silent treatment.

Are you enjoying the exercise series to date? They have been simple to follow and do, haven't they? And is the tape measurement rewarding the efforts? If you successfully completed the NEW LOOK DIET series . . . and are now following through with the exercises . . . the figure on the tape measure should be cutting a pretty figure on you.

So today we are concentrating on the upper hip. As you do this drill you'll notice, too, that the abdomen benefits also . . . for this Exercise No. 5 sponsored at the Elizabeth Arden Salon is an all-round figure-cutter . . . designed not only to reduce the abdomen and upper hip but to mold and slim the contour as well.

Here is another page for your exercise book:

LET'S KEEP ON

Do you find the exercises digging right in and firming the muscles? Do you find a smoother outline to your anatomical curve? And how are your clothes fitting these days? Has it been necessary to "take them in"? Good! Let's keep on . . . and when it is time to blossom out in an Easter bonnet and an Easter outfit, you'll truly be the "grandest lady."

In tomorrow's Boston American, we again take a page from the Elizabeth Arden Salon figure-beauty book for Exercise No. 6, designed to strengthen, firm and reduce legs.

February Flower Is Violet

The February birthstone is the amethyst. The February flower is the violet. And the February pronunciation is FEB-ru-ary — every letter pronounced — not the incorrect and so-often-heard "Feb-o-ary." MRS. BEECKMAN

ALL THE WORLD loves a pretty girl . . . and a pretty girl soft, attractive ringlets atop her pretty head . . . especially she is "doing the town" in dress-up clothes. But formality . . . the sculptured topknot has given way to the softer feathered hairdo which is nil without a few ring-around curls to pre- up. Filmstress Nina Lunn looks hair-happy.

Easy-to-Use Curlers Allow Sleep in Comfort

EVER SINCE I WAS a little girl I can remember the time mothers spent glorifying the heads of young daughters. There were rags and tissue paper curlers and wire ones . . . all to satisfy eternal female vanity. Everyone liked curly locks . . . everyone likes them today, because they're soft and feminine.

If you've ever slept on a headful of metal curlers, we don't have to remind you of the sore, black-and-blue feeling . . . to say nothing of possible sleeplessness you may have experienced. If you're still going through this punishment for reasons strictly on beauty's side, you'll love the quick, convenient way of developing natural-looking ringlets with soft chamois curlers.

They're only little rolls of chamois, no fatter than a cigarette, with a coil spring wire inside . . . and their operation is as simple as can be. There's a tiny wooden peg on one end which fits into the other end and stays there. It's impossible to pull it out without removing the peg . . . so there's no danger of the curlers dropping off while you sleep.

SLEEP IN COMFORT

Just roll your hair up from the ends, close the curler and that's all. The chamois covers the hair ends so they won't split or break, and allows you to sleep in comfort. These curlers do not frizz the ends of the hair . . . a boon to modern hair-styling, which calls for sleek, cap-like, head hugging coiffures. You'll find them easy for curling up longer hair, too, when it is difficult to make pin curls that will stay put. Just wind up the ends on the chamois . . . as little or as much as you want . . . and you'll have loose, natural-looking curls in jig time. A package of four costs only 50 cents.—R. M.

For the name of these comfy, easy-to-use chamois curlers, phone Beauty Dept., Liberty 2-4000, any day except Sunday, or write to Ruth Mugglebee, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Yes, One or two sent will be ample.

DEAR MARG: How delightfully like you send us such kind and hearted words of good wishes on our wedding day! We thank you for your dear letter which so delightfully adds our happiness.

Love from us both . . . hope to see you soon.

Answering Beauty Queries

DEAR MISS MUGGLEBEE: What are whiteheads and how do you get rid of them?

H. S., Jamaica Plain.

Dear H. S.: Whiteheads and blackheads are first cousins. The black ones are like a splinter in the pore, the white ones . . . fat little bulbs that have pulled a snug skin coverlet over themselves, smothering the pore completely. But don't try and prick them and squeeze out the cheesy little ball, because the tiny strings of pus attached to them will stay in and creep into the next cell and the next. Soon you'll have 10 where only one existed.

Treating them resolves into robbing them of their protection, getting rid of the dead cuticle covering them. Friction and stimulation . . . that's the answer. Lots of rubbing with wash cloth or complexion brush, cold water, and a cleaner with sufficient oomph to do the job.

Such a cleaner is a liquid facial soap. Use it briskly in a thorough going over of the face at night. Then firm the complexion with a special ointment. Wherever a whitehead pushes its head up through these films, pat on the liquid facial soap just as it comes from the bottle and leave it on overnight. Repeat in the morning.

Others wanting to know the names of these whitehead cosmetic challengers, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 2-4000, any day except Sunday, or write to Ruth Mugglebee, care of the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BE TACTFUL—It's proper to ask to see the engaged girl's ring if you know she has one, but it is not tactful to ask "When are you getting a ring?"

Let's Eat

BY IDA BAILEY ALLEN

WHILE GOING through the Ozarks en route to St. Louis on a recent tour, the Chef and I stopped over at a remote junction, where we found an old weather-beaten hotel, run by a Missouri woman with two or three women assistants.

No wonder men have a bunch friendship for the hotel. It gives them food pretty far home-cooked. Big breakfasts of ham 'n' eggs, or liver and onions, fried potatoes, hot coffee, plenty of coffee and

GOOD PIE

I found that pie as good as New England ever turned out. The crust was so crisp and flaky, the Chef declared it must be made by a regular patissier man, and he would be "basted" to meet him. It seemed this could be arranged, so we must wait until the baking was done. At 2:30 the pie-maker appeared, not a "patissier" but a French-looking, little elderly Missourian in a spotless dress and apron. "Madame, how do you like to do so much baking?" the Chef asked. By way of answer she invited us into her room. The room was lined with shelves placed low so that she could easily reach her supplies. An ice refrigerator held lard, eggs and perishable goods. There was a barrel of flour, an old-fashioned flour sifter, a big wooden pastry board and innumerable tin pie plates, dark with use.

WITHIN REACH

"I make pies the way my mother taught me, just as we did on the farm. Everything I need is within easy reach so I can work fast. I mix the pie-crust dough in this big chopping bowl. And I like to chill the pie-crust before rolling it, while I get the pie-filling ready."

"How many kinds of pie do you make?" I asked. "Oh, I think I've made dozens of kinds. The men go mostly for apple and peach but they like a fancy number now and then."

"In that case," I observed, "the men will be pleased with your beautiful criss cross apricot pie." I made a mental reservation to include it some day in our menu. Here it is:

TOMORROW'S DINNER

Celery Cream Soup
Braised Pork Chops
with Sauerkraut
Mashed Potatoes
Casserole Parsnips
Dark Bread
Butter or Margarine
Criss Cross Apricot Pie
Coffee or Tea Milk (Children)
All Measurements are Level
Recipes Serve Four

BRAISED PORK CHOPS WITH SAUERKRAUT

Purchase 1 good-sized pork chop for each person. Dust with salt, pepper and flour. Brown on both sides in a very little fat. Add ½ tsp. liquid gravy seasoning and water to half cover. Then put on a lid and simmer until the chops are fork tender, about 35 mins.

Meanwhile prepare the sauerkraut. To do this, melt ½ tsp. butter or margarine and fry ½ tsp. caraway seed in it. Add 1 tsp. sugar and 1 medium-sized onion, peeled and sliced. Fry until the onion turns yellow. Add 1 can sauerkraut with the juice; simmer 30 mins. when most of the liquid will have evaporated. Transfer to a deep platter; place the pork chops on top; pour over the gravy and garnish with parsley.

CASSEROLE PARSNIPS

Select firm smooth parsnips. Scrub, pare and cut in quarters or eighths, both lengthwise and crosswise. Cut out the hard core. Rub a casserole with 1½ tsp. margarine or bacon fat and place the parsnips in it. Add boiling water or soup stock barely to cover. Season with ½ tsp. salt and a few grains of nutmeg. Cover and bake until tender in a hot oven, 375 deg. to 400 deg. F., about 45 min.

CRISS-CROSS APRICOT PIE

Take a 9-inch pie plate with high flange. Fry 4 tsp. coarse brown crumbs in 1 tsp. butter or margarine, and sprinkle over the bottom of the crust-lined plate to absorb excess juice from the filling. Spread in 2½ c. coarsely-chopped, cooked well-sweetened dried apricots, mixed with 1 tsp. lemon juice, ½ tsp. grated lemon rind and ¼ tsp. salt. Moisten the edge of the crust with cold water and fit criss-cross strips of pastry, cut a scant ½ inch wide, in lattice fashion over the top. Bake 10 min. in hot oven, 400 deg. F., then reduce the heat and bake 35 min. longer in a moderate oven, 375 deg. F.

TRICK OF THE CHEF

To make little jam tarts from piecrust trimmings, place them together in even layers. Press slightly and roll out; line very small cup cake pans and bake in a hot oven, 400 deg. F., with any kind of jam or marmalade; put a dot of whipped cream cheese on top.

Hostess' Favorite Recipe

By MARTHA LEE

MRS. WILLIAM W. KIRLIN, president of the Business and Professional Women's Republican Club of Boston, is a member of many clubs, an active business woman, and, above all, an excellent cook and homemaker. When asked for her favorite recipe, she conferred with her husband and daughters in an effort to get the family favorite. But it seems they were hard pressed for a decision because they are partial to so many of her dishes. They finally agreed on this Chicken Paprika, which is a recipe passed on to Mrs. Kirlin by her mother.

CHICKEN PAPRIKA

Cut up a 5-lb. chicken and, after thoroughly washing, place in a bowl of water for 5 minutes. Sauté a medium-sized onion, chopped fine, in 2 tbsp. bacon fat. (Use pan deeper than frying pan.) Take chicken from water and add to sautéed onions. Sprinkle with 1 tsp. salt and 1 tsp. Hungarian paprika (this is the very brilliant red, very mild variety of paprika), and cook over medium flame, turning chicken frequently. When liquid in pan is almost gone, add 1 cup of water, turn flame low, cover dish and cook for about 60 minutes or until chicken is well done. Turn chicken occasionally and add water when needed. Before serving, mix 1 tsp. flour with 1 cup "cultured" cream, and pour over chicken just before removing from stove. Serve with wild rice and mushrooms, peas and a tossed salad. Use chicken giblets, the neck and bony part of back for soup. Serve before the entree. My choice of dessert would be deep dish apple pie topped with ice cream.

FOR THE gay, young crowd, with figures to match, here's a French inspired reffer they'll adore wearing. Especially designed for teen-agers by Dominique of Paris... the coat is American made of Forstmann's colorful checked pattern, effectively banded with contrasting piping from shoulder to pocket outline. Double-breasted and hemline full... it follows the spring trend of figure-snuggles and deep lapels. The shoes and hat are perfect accessories for a fashion-alert youngster.

Advice for Lonely Widow

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I was married for 26 years and lost my husband this year after a long illness. While he was alive, he never wanted me to make friends or to go out, and now that he is gone I am very, very lonesome and blue. I go out to meetings in my lodge once in a while, but it is only for women, and I live in a small country town.

'LONESOME'

DEAR "LONESOME": After living such a restricted life for so long, it is no wonder that you find yourself at a loss to know how to begin to make friends, whether among men or women. Happily, however, it is never too late to start.

Of course, when one lives in a small place, the opportunities for making friends are far more limited than if you live in a city. Since you are now alone, wouldn't you be free to strike out along new lines—move to another place and begin to make an interesting life for yourself? Or wouldn't you care to leave the place you now live in? I think the possibility of moving to new surroundings is something to consider.

At any rate, it is usually possible to increase your circle of acquaintances, no matter where you live, and I suggest that you look around right in your own town and in nearby places for social possibilities. Find out what clubs there are you might join, investigate job possibilities, and make a survey of activities open to a single woman. The way to make friends is to be interested in a great many things. Try this plan and see if it doesn't help.

Fashion Magic in Sari's Long Lines

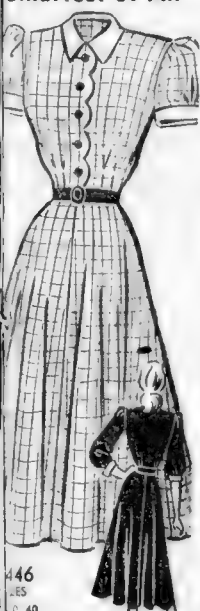

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

THE LOVELY sari of India enters this season's fashions like a veiled lady, hinting of beauty and intrigue. Designers find fashion magic in the sari's long, graceful lines. Its sweeping movement holds limitless possibilities for draping. The sari-into-evening gown may look to the East for its origin, but its loveliness is definitely suited to Western sophistication.

Lane designed the evening gown sketched today. Made of white angel skin crepe, it falls like a sari in loose but controlled lines. The bodice is draped all to one side from a tight, slanted, draped midriff. One shoulder is completely bare. The other is covered with a draped sleeve. The slit skirt is fitted over the hips and gathered to one side. The bodice is edged in a line of silver embroidery rimmed with pale blue chiffon. The matching blue chiffon scarf is attached to the sleeve.

He'll Be Home By Plane, He Hopes

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 6 (AP)—T. H. Loftin started what was thought to be a routine plane yesterday from Louisville, Ky., Nashville, 164 miles away. Because of bad weather the plane passed over Nashville, however, then Atlanta, and finally ended at Jacksonville, Fla., 659 miles later.

Loftin soon boarded a north-bound plane, hopefully bound for Nashville a second time. But the weather was still bad, the plane passed over Nashville again, then Louisville and ended at Indianapolis, Ind., 400 miles from his starting point. Last night, he phoned his wife and told her he was home Friday—by plane.

Margarine in Diet Good for Health

CHICAGO, Feb. 6 (AP)—A two-year study of 217 children—one group of which had butter in its diet and the other margarine—showed no difference in the effects of the fats on growth, three physicians reported today. The study was made by Drs. Harry Leichenger, George Eisenberg and Anton J. Carlson of the department of pediatrics, University of Illinois College of Medicine, Chicago. The groups studied were mostly orphans or half-orphans in two separate institutions 10 miles apart. The doctors reported: "The children in the margarine group experienced a high degree of good health during the study."

'You Were Meant for Me' Good Fare for Young and Old

By PEGGY DOYLE

Those of you Boston American columnist E. V. Durling says the young oldtimers are in for a double-take when you under that old debbil year, 1929, via the Met's appealing new musical film, "You Were Meant for Me."

The Year of the Great Depression, as viewed through 20th Century-Fox's backward-slanted, rose-tinted horizons, was a period of remarkable gaiety and congeniality, of uncomplicated, short-skirted flappers with spiculed hair, their brash, brave beaux sporting wide-bottomed trousers in a hip flask, of the "chicken-ry-pot" prosperity and the ill-nourished look.

Aided by the persuasive make-believing of niece-girl Jeanne Crain and Dan Dailey, as the hot-off leader of a popular barn-burning band of the early 30's and a score made up of the period's most hummable, old tunes, "You Were Meant for Me" achieves as pleasant and illusion-creating an armchair jaunt down memory lane as you can imagine.

The plot, leave us face it, is as thin as a Mugglebee diet disciple ought to be, and the characters are more goody-good than human, but more than balancing these debit items are Dailey's first-rate characterization of a leader of a dance band when a dance band was really a vaudeville show in itself. There is a honey of a reversal sequence showing the musicians going through tortuous contortions as they wring notes from their instruments and Dailey, their personality-plus leader, all toffed out in a hotshot suit with the trousers ending at the armpits.

Miss Crain, whose "Margie" established her as the screen's spunkiest, most beguiling niece-girl, is again playing herself with irresistible charm. On the other fist, Oscar Levant is not playing himself but is giving a very good account of himself as a youngish armadecoon, Percy Kilbride and Selena Royle, as Jeanne Crain's parents, humanize a pair of stock characters.

In addition to the singable titling, the score boasts those other old favorites, "Ain't She Sweet?" "It's a Had You," "Goodnight, Sweetheart," "I'll Get By," "Ain't no behavin'" and "Crazy Rhythm."

From me to you, there's more gar than spice in "You Were

Art Mooney Excels Leading Gala Boston Bill⁴⁹

Art Mooney, the Lowell boy who made good with the click disk, "I'm Looking Over a Four-Leaf Clover," which is reported to have sold more than 750,000 pressings, proved as welcome as a snowless weather forecast at yesterday's opening show at the RKO-Boston.

He has a slick orchestra (which gets into the act... and to good effect... at every possible opportunity), excellent arrangements and a genial, likeable personality that gets across the foot-lights.

Featured with his good-luck number on the current stage bill is the number appearing on the reverse side of that sensational recording, "The Big Brass Band From Brazil," with the Galli Sisters duplicating their disk contributions.

The Galli Trio, singing "Va-Sa-Pe" (it says here "means go to work"), make the Andrew Sisters seem almost introverted... they share a Mexican-jumping-bean quality of animation that is merely incredible.

Helene and Howard whose act

Other featured acts include

is billed as "Dance Antics," antic around with more comicality than the RKO-Boston stage has offered in a long time. Starting off with grace and allure, they do a laughable reverse, ribbing the serious students of the dance with explosive irreverence.

Another star of the current show is Gene Sheldon, who's right up there with Harpo Marx and Jimmy Savo as the best of the pantomimists. He and his partner, Loreta Fischer, missed the first show because the weather halted the departure of their train from the mid-West but arrived with a bang-up performance and a show-stopping finish at the second show.

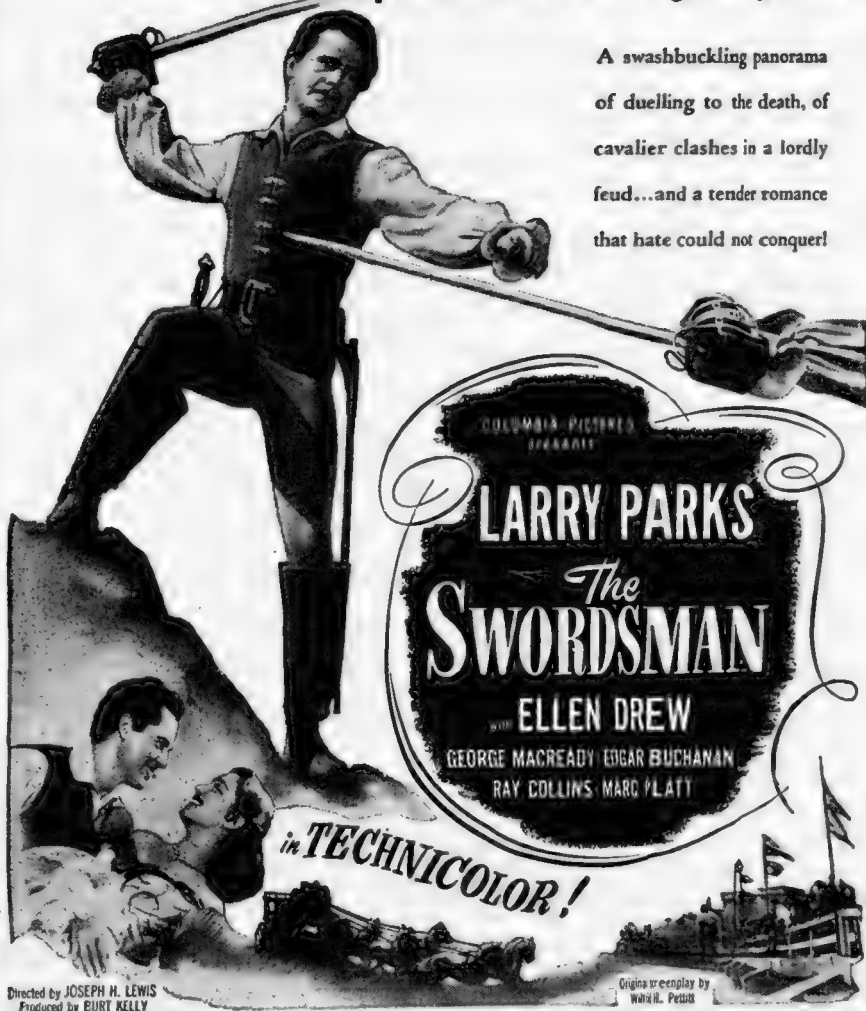

banjo-playing Eddie Collins, whose specialty is "Alabama Bound," and Buddy Bress, Norma Gall and the Mooney Choir, whom "Birdland of Happiness" makes nice listening.

The windup number is the Art Mooney specialty, "Swinging the News of the Day," which blends laughs with harmony.

For a screen attraction there is "If You Knew Susie," which teams the excessively talented Eddie Cantor and Joan Davis. Both have been funnier if not louder. They coast in this one which dispenses with the vaguest hint of org nality or lift in favor of using every trick, gag and inflection in Cantor's repertoire.

Hoey Sees H. C. 5 Points Better Than N. Y. U. Five

By FRED HOEY

With their great speed, ball-handling skill and exceptional player depth Holy Cross would stand better than an even chance of defeating New York University, the nation's No. 1 college basketball team, if they are to meet in the NCAA tournament next month. This observer arrived at this conclusion after watching NYU struggle through 40 minutes of play in which they defeated Boston University 61-44, in one end of the twin bill last night at the Garden. Texas Wesleyan defeated Boston College, 56-50, on the other end.

Over the first 20 minutes of play, BU gave NYU a merry battle, playing the visitors to a standstill at times. But in the closing half, the violets got rolling. Two Garden scoring records were established. Joe Dohlon of NYU caged 10 fouls to break the old record by one, while his team was credited with 19 fouls which beats the old mark of 18.

After watching Holy Cross for the past two seasons, we would pick the Crusaders to take NYU by at least five points, for the New Yorkers haven't the replacements to match the Purple.

Despite the great record of triumphs Texas boasted over some of the country's leading college teams, BU carried the game directly to them.

The Eagles led at half time 27-24, but the Texans began to click in the second half, taking the lead after 10 minutes and never being headed after that.

Probe Reveals Race Fund Misuse

(This is the eleventh of a series of articles giving the "inside story" of the career of George Mahoney as member and chairman of the Maryland Racing Commission and his efforts to clean up improve racing in this state.)

By ALEXANDER GIFFORD

As the story moves through to its climax it will be seen that the other 11 commission members, even after living through the Battle of April 12, (Pimlico opening day) later outvoted Mahoney, and gave the tracks a "clean bill of health."

The letter had given the tracks a certain time by which the report was to be made.

The report was 20 days overdue when a committee of the track owners, accompanied by a battery of attorneys, appeared before the commission.

MAHONEY "EXPLODED"

They argued that the annual reports of the tracks covered the various expenditures and that this was all the report necessary, and that an itemized report was never intended by Mr. Spencer in the first place.

Commissioners Small and Jennifer were about ready to agree to this when Mahoney went right through the ceiling.

He threatened to go to Governor O'Connor saying: "After all, he is responsible to the public for our conduct of this office, and if we permit a cover-up like this, in fairness he is going to know about it."

So vigorous were Mahoney's demands that the commission kept its back up and reiterated its insistence on the accounting.

O'CONNOR INFORMED

Mahoney informed the Governor of the situation, and O'Connor promptly ordered Chairman Small to throw forward Mahoney's demands that the commission kept its back up and reiterated its insistence on the accounting.

It was the first time the commission had had open meetings since its formation in 1920.

Word that the tracks were trying to account for the money was bound to get out, and sports columnists and political writers amused themselves discussing it in their columns.

Later, when the matter came before the legislature, President Parr of Pimlico bitterly accused the press (naming no names) of having given the public the impression that the tracks had spent the money wrongly.

ACCOUNTING GIVEN

Columnist and Sports Editor Roger Pippen asked the Pimlico management if they thought the "purchase of beds and typewriters" were for the improvement of racing equipment?

The tracks' accounting finally was placed before the commission on March 29, 1944.

Mahoney, who had spent considerable of his own funds in employing private detectives to run down race-track crooks, now set up a big accounting office on his own to analyze and check, recheck, and double-check the tracks' reports. He said:

"In our final analysis we were most lenient.

"There were many items we passed as O. K. which were doubtful.

"And out of the $2,000,000, we could not reach any conclusion but one:

"The sum of $1,037,000 had been spent for purposes other than those for which the money had been specifically granted."

PURCHASED LAND

One instance was the purchase of $38,000 in land which the track in question was going to keep and own, and could dispose of. They even allowed that.

They allowed a photographic room, the expense of boxes and chairs later to be rented out at a profit.

The list of what Mahoney called improper expenditures was long, and included not only the "beds and typewriters" mentioned by Pippen and a flagpole at one track mentioned by another sports writer, but many large expenses, too.

He found an item of around $70,000 for taking the "hump" out of the Pimlico infield, which had been contracted for and spent before the Spencer grant had been made.

One item called for more than $40,000 to rebuild a barn destroyed by fire, although the track had received many thousands from insurance, which had not been mentioned or allowed for.

Mahoney was worried for fear that his fellow commissioners would accept this report. He said to himself:

"I'm not so sure that our commission's skirts are so clear, anyway. Why, any taxpayer could take this to court and accuse the commission of malfeasance in office if we pass any such expenditures."

Mahoney took the results of the labors of his auditors, a most voluminous and detailed report, later to be shown to the legislature, and talked it over with Atty-Gen. William C. Walsh in his official position legal adviser to the commission.

His assistant Hall Hammond

"everything's as it's always been."

Vague rumbles of discontent among the players also left Mack undisturbed.

Condie said his son Earle, "has been handling that end but I believe there are few real difficulties. If there are any hold-outs, you can say for me that they'll hold out forever. We'll rewrite none of the contracts that we've sent out. If the players don't like them, they can stay home."

was called in and both decided the situation was most deplorable.

WENT OVER FIGURES

Together they went over the figures and then appeared before the commission until a late one night. Walsh told the commission:

"Gentlemen, there is no doubt in the world that the track should make good for a percentage of this money, which was asked for purposes other than the intent of the grant. I think the commission should decide on some compromise amount, and request the tracks to make it good."

This was on the night of April 11, 1944. Pimlico was scheduled to open the following morning.

But after many hours of discussion, Mahoney could not get fellow commissioners to agree to the course of action recommended by the attorney-general's office.

In fact, Commissioner Jen suggested adjourning and meeting the following day on the subject.

DEMANDED ACTION

Finally Mahoney played his

He said:

"Gentlemen, Pimlico opens tomorrow.

"Let's delay for the time being, if we must, the matter handling of the $2,000,000.

"What are we going to do about the money that Pimlico will start taking in tomorrow?"

"Are we going to sit back and let things continue as they have been?"

"I recommend we go to the management of Pimlico right now (11 p. m.) and order they set aside one per cent escrow and let the next session of the Legislature decide how this money should be handled."

This, under urging by Walsh the commission adopted unanimously.

And that was the bombshell made all racing at Pimlico the following day.

(The next article will show how the Battle of the One Percent swung against Mahoney and then how he won another vital skirmish before the Maryland State Legislature.)
